

Catalyst Workshop on Policymaking in East Asia
Proposal for AALAC Faculty Workshop
May 2017
Mansfield Freeman Center for East Asian Studies
Wesleyan University

Workshop Liaison

Mary Alice Haddad
Wesleyan University
Chair, College of East Asian Studies
Professor of Government
mahaddad@wesleyan.edu

1. Description

The workshop will be a day and a half long workshop held at Wesleyan University's College of East Asian Studies on May 19-20, 2017. The workshop will bring together "next generation" scholars who study policymaking in East Asia. We will have a combination of theme-based panels (e.g., social welfare policy, immigration policy, and environmental policy), and professionalization-oriented workshops (a workshop learning to use the web to make ones scholarship more accessible, and a session with journal editors on getting published in peer-reviewed journals).

There are three main goals of this workshop. 1) To deepen and expand the existing networks among scholars working on policy-related issues in East Asia. 2) To ensure that liberal arts faculty members are included in those networks. 3) To have a large and meaningful influence on the scholarship related to East Asia by creating a "blast" of scholarship related to policymaking in East Asia in a wide range of peer-reviewed journals, thereby enhancing not only the careers of the participants but also the visibility of East Asia in a range of disciplinary fields. This proposal is for base funding for the conference. We will be applying for additional funding from the Northeast Asia Council of the Association of Asian Studies to supplement AALAC funding (breakdown clarified in the budget section).

2. Rationale

There are currently three separate scholarly networks that are aimed at "next generation" scholars of China, Japan, and Korea. The National Committee on US-China Relations launched the Public Intellectuals Program in 2005 to foster the next generation of China specialists in the United States. In 2010 the Maureen and Mike Mansfield Foundation in collaboration with the Japan Foundation's Center for Global Partnership launched The US-Japan Network for the Future to nurture Japan scholars. Finally, in 2013 the Korea Foundation and the Mansfield Foundation created the US-Korea Scholar Policymaker Nexus program. All three programs select a small group of "next generation" scholars and policymakers to participate in a set of intensive workshops over the course of two years. The goal in all three cases is to promote the connections between policymakers in the national capitals and scholars who work on relevant issues related to China, Japan, and Korea.

However, none of the three networks promote collaboration among the East Asian countries, even though many of the members work on multiple countries (indeed some scholars belong to more than one network). Furthermore, in all cases there has been a focus on the “hard” foreign policy issues of trade and security, which are particularly difficult to gain agreement among the four countries (China, Japan, Korea, and the US). And yet, each of the three networks contains a sizable contingent of scholars who work on domestic policy issues such as social welfare, immigration, the environment, etc., which are much easier issues for international collaboration and cross-national policy transfer.

This workshop is designed is to foster connections among the scholars working on these domestic policy issues in the hopes that cooperating and collaborating on the “easy” domestic issues might build a foundation for cooperation and collaboration in the more difficult foreign policy sphere.

In total, there are 79 members of the US-China network, 54 members of the US-Japan network, and 20 members in the US-Korea network. Liberal arts faculty are woefully under-represented: there are only 5 in the US-China network, 2 in the US-Japan network, and zero in the US-Korea network. And yet, social scientists that work on contemporary China, Japan, and Korea abound in the AALAC schools. All of the 22 AALAC schools have an academic unit (department, program, center) that focuses on Asian or East Asian Studies, and 20 of the 22 schools have social science faculty who are engaged in contemporary issues related to East Asia. One of the most important goals of this workshop is to plug the AALAC faculty into the international networks of scholars working on policy issues in East Asia.

3. Outcomes

We are calling this a catalyst workshop because one of its main functions is to act as a catalyst for publication. Rather than proposing a single edited volume or special issue of a journal, we are requiring all participants to bring a fairly polished article to the workshop. All participants will be required to read their colleagues’ manuscripts prior to arrival, so the sessions will be much less about presenting material than offering constructive feedback. We will brainstorm placement of the manuscripts to maximize impact. If it turns out that several of the manuscripts fit together, we may propose a special issue of a journal in addition to individual submissions. It is anticipated that every one of the 25-30 participants will produce a peer-reviewed publication by a year from the time the workshop is held. Furthermore, is likely that the workshop will generate new collaborative projects that will result in additional publications down the line.

By definition, AALAC faculty devote a considerable proportion of their time and energy toward teaching. As a result, it is sometimes difficult for us to build our profile as scholars and gain entry into the scholarly networks that enable us to expand the reach and influence of our scholarship. This workshop is primarily designed to boost the research capacity of participating faculty. However, like most research-oriented endeavors, it will also have some significant benefits for teaching. Unlike faculty at R1 research institutions, who frequently teach exclusively in their area of expertise, AALAC faculty are usually required to teach courses outside their own area of expertise—Those of us who have a research concentration in Japan have to teach about China, those who study Korea also teach Japan-focused courses, etc. Therefore, connecting us to colleagues who study the East Asian countries about which we have to teach but in which have less expertise is especially valuable. We can invite them to give public talks on our campuses or guest lectures in our classes; we can ask them for resources for our syllabi etc. Thus, it is not only the participating faculty that will benefit from this conference, our students will as well.

4. Conference follow up

This workshop was conceived of as a pilot project. The hope is that after a successful first workshop, there will be subsequent meetings at regular intervals following a similar model. I will be putting together a comprehensive proposal for follow up workshops to the funders of the three scholarly networks: the Center for Global Partnership (Japan Foundation), the Korea Foundation, and the National Committee on U.S. China Relations. I have spoken with the directors of all three programs, and they are very enthusiastic about the idea. I have also been in close contact with key academic leaders of the three networks, and they too are enthusiastic.

Additionally, in researching this proposal, we discovered the wealth of East Asian social scientists who are very nearby, working at the NESCAC (New England Small College Athletic Conference) schools, many of whom are AALAC members. In speaking with the other organizers, we are very excited to initiate a regular gathering of NESCAC colleagues who do social science work on East Asia.

5. Possible Participants

AALAC Faculty who plan to participate

- Mary Alice Haddad, Chair, College of East Asian Studies, Professor of Government, Wesleyan University
- Katherine Kaup, James B. Duke Professor of Asian Studies and Political Science, Furman
- Eunmi Mun, Assistant Professor of Sociology, Amherst College
- Kerry Ratigan, Assistant Professor of Political Science, Amherst College
- Jessica Teets, Associate Professor of Political Science, Middlebury College
- Seung-Youn Oh, Assistant Professor of Political Science, Bryn Mawr

Other AALAC faculty who are likely participants

- Joan Cho, Assistant Professor of Asian Studies, Wesleyan University
- John Davis, Assistant Professor of Black Studies and East Asian Studies, Denison
- Ying Jia Tan, Assistant Professor of History, Wesleyan University

Non-AALAC faculty who have indicated interest

-China

- Thomas Gold, Professor of Sociology, University of California Berkeley
- Ling Han, Post-Doc at Stanford Center on Philanthropy and Civil Society (sociology)
- Yinan He, Associate Professor of International Relations, Lehigh Univ.
- Kimberley Manning, Associate Professor of Political Science, Concordia University

-Japan

- Levi McLaughlin, Assistant Professor of Religions Studies North Carolina State University
- Kathryn Ibata-Arens, Associate Professor of Political Science, DePaul University
- Kim Reimann, Associate Professor of Political Science, Georgia State

-Korea

- Paul Chang, Assistant Professor of Sociology, Harvard University

- June Park, Post-doctoral fellow National University Singapore
- Dennis McNamara, Park Professor of Sociology & Korean Studies, Georgetown

-Multiple Country

- Erin Chung, Charles D. Miller Associate Professor of East Asian Politics, Hopkins
- Celeste Arrington, Korea Foundation Assistant Professor of Political Science and International Affairs, George Washington University
- Mark Manyin, Asian Affairs Specialist Congressional Research Service
- Kay Shimizu, Assistant Professor of Political Science, Pittsburgh
- Andrew Yeo, Associate Professor of Politics, Catholic University of America
- Booseung Chang, Walter Shorenstein Postdoctoral Fellow, Stanford

Appendix A: Workshop Schedule

Friday May 19

- 5-6 Welcome reception
- 6-8 Dinner with Keynote speaker

Saturday May 20

- 8:00-8:30 Breakfast
- 8:30-10 Themed Panel 1
- 10:15-11:30 Themed Panel 2
- 11:30-12:30 Lunch—Discussion with Journal Editors
- 12:30-2:00 Themed Panel 3
- 2:15-4:30 Workshop: Making Your Research Visible Online
- 4:45-6 Wrapping up
- 6:30-8 Farewell Dinner (optional)

Appendix B: Planning timeline

2016

- February Discuss catalyst workshop idea with key East Asian foundations and senior scholars of all three networks.
- March Email an inquiry to the three networks with a description of the conference idea and gather names of those who are interested;
-Meet with interested parties at the Assoc. of Asian Studies meeting
- April Collaborate with AALAC colleagues to develop a proposal
- May Draft and circulate the conference proposal
- May 31 Submit the proposal

If funded...

- July Follow up with senior scholars and invite them to participate;
-Contact interested people and invite them to submit a paper abstract;
-Solicit feedback about which journal editors to invite
-Solicit feedback about which senior scholars to invite
- August Review submissions and create themed panels

- September Notify participants of their acceptance
-Invite journal editors to participate

2017

- March Finalize logistical arrangements
- April Participants upload their own manuscripts and read all others
- May 19-20 Catalyst Workshop
- June Plan follow up workshop and begin grant writing

Appendix C: Condensed Curriculum Vitae of AALAC participants (* = Organizers)

Mary Alice Haddad*
Wesleyan University
Email: mahaddad@wesleyan.edu
Website: mahaddad.faculty.wesleyan.edu

MAIN ACADEMIC APPOINTMENTS

Wesleyan University

Chair, College of East Asian Studies, 2015-present
Professor of Government, 2015-present
Associate Professor of Government with tenure, 2011-2015
Assistant Professor of Government, 2004-2011

EDUCATION

Ph.D. University of Washington, Seattle WA (Political Science, 2003)
MA University of Washington, Seattle WA (Political Science, 1998)
BA Amherst College, 1995

INTERNATIONAL/NATIONAL AWARDS AND FELLOWSHIPS

Japan Foundation Institutional Project Support Program in Japanese Studies, 2015-18
Korea Foundation Institutional Grant, 2016-21
Fellowship for Advanced Social Science Research on Japan, Japan-U.S. Friendship
Commission and National Endowment of the Humanities, 2015
Australian Political Science Association, Travel Award 2014
Northeast Asia Council, Association of Asian Studies, Book Subvention Award 2011
Abe Fellowship, Japan Foundation and Social Science Research Council 2010-2011
Maureen and Mike Mansfield Foundation and Japan Foundation Center for Global Partnership, U.S.-Japan Network for the Future 2010-2012
East Asian Institute Fellow Program on Peace, Governance, and Development in East
Asia, 2009-2010
Mellon Summer Stipend, 2008
National Endowment for the Humanities Summer Stipend 2006
Association of Research on Nonprofit Organizations and Voluntary Action (ARNOVA)
Outstanding Contribution to Nonprofit and Voluntary Sector Quarterly 2004
Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies 2003-2004; 2006-2007
Institute of International Education (Fulbright) and the A50 Project 2001-02
Japan Foundation Dissertation Research Fellowship 2001-02 (declined)
Japanese Ministry of Education Graduate Research Scholarship 1998-99

PUBLICATIONS

Books

NIMBY is Beautiful: Cases of Local Activism and Environmental Innovation around the World, co-editor with Carol Hager; New York: Berghahn Books, 2015.

Building Democracy in Japan. New York: Cambridge University Press, 2012.

Politics and Volunteering in Japan: A Global Perspective. New York: Cambridge University Press. 2007.

Peer Reviewed Articles and Book Chapters

“Japanese Democracy” in Tun-jen Cheng and Yun-han Chua eds. Routledge Handbook of Democratization in East Asia. New York: Routledge (forthcoming)

“Increasing Environmental Performance in a Context of Low Governmental Enforcement: Evidence from China” Journal of Environment and Development (March 2015) 24:1, pp. 3-25.

“Paradoxes of Democratisation: Environmental Politics in East Asia,” in Paul Harris and Graeme Lang eds. Routledge Handbook of Environment and Society in Asia. New York: Routledge, 2015, pp. 86-104.

“(Re)Creating Democracy through Practice: Insights from the Japanese Experience” in Adam White ed. The Everyday Life of the State: A State-in-Society Approach, University of Washington Press, 2013, pp. 159-179.

“Media and Environmental Politics in East Asia,” in Zhiqun Zhu ed. New Dynamics in East Asian Politics, Continuum, 2012, pp. 170-188.

“The Transformation of Japanese Democracy” in Mary Malone ed., Achieving Democracy. New York: Continuum, 2011, pp. 194-218.

“Volunteer Organizations (Re)making Democracy in Japan.” in Alisa Gaunder ed., The Routledge Handbook of Japanese Politics. New York: Routledge, 2011. pp. 140-151.

“A State-in-Society Approach to the Nonprofit Sector: Welfare Services in Japan,” Voluntas: International Journal of Voluntary and Nonprofit Organizations (January 2011) 22:1, pp. 26-47.

“From Undemocratic to Democratic Civil Society: Japan’s Volunteer Fire Departments” Journal of Asian Studies (February 2010) 69:1; pp. 33-56.

“Transformation of Japan’s Civil Society Landscape,” Journal of East Asian Studies (September 2007) 7:3; pp. 413-437.

“Civic Responsibility and Patterns of Voluntary Participation around the World” Comparative Political Studies (Dec. 2006) 39:10; pp. 1220-1242.

“Community Determinants of Volunteer Participation: The Case of Japan” Nonprofit and Voluntary Sector Quarterly (Sept. 2004); 33:8S-31S. Winner of the NVSQ

“Outstanding Contribution” award for 2004.

JESSICA C. TEETS*
MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE
Email: jteets@middlebury.edu
Website: <http://community.middlebury.edu/~jteets>

Employment

Middlebury College
Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science (2009-2015)
Associate Professor, Department of Political Science (2015-present)

Education

University of Colorado, Boulder
PhD Political Science 2009
MA Political Science 2004

University of Chicago
MA International Relations 1998

University of Maryland
BA Government and Politics 1997
BA Chinese Studies 1997

Research Grants

National Science Foundation - $12,000 Doctoral Dissertation Improvement Grant September 2007-August 2008	Boulder, Colorado
University of Colorado - $1000 Language Immersion Summer Grant June 2006-August 2006	Beijing, China
University of Colorado - $3000 Language Immersion Summer Grant June 2005-August 2005	Beijing, China
United Government of Graduate Students - $1000 Conference Travel Grant	Boulder, Colorado
University of Colorado - $6,000 Research Fellowship January 2004-May 2004	Boulder, Colorado

Publications

Teets, Jessica. "Book Review: Pranab Bardhan and Dilip Mookherjee's Decentralization and Local Governance in Developing Countries." Journal of Chinese Politics 13. March 2008.

Lewis, Orion and Jessica Teets. "Chinese Nationalism 1949-1980." Nations and Nationalism in Global Perspective: An Encyclopedia of Origins, Development, and Contemporary Transition. ABC-CLIO. June 2008.

Teets, Jessica. "Post-Earthquake Relief and Reconstruction Efforts: The Emergence of Civil Society in China?" The China Quarterly 198. June 2009: 330-347.

Chenoweth, Erica and Jessica Teets. "To Bribe or Bomb: An Empirical Analysis into the Relationship between Corruption and Terrorism." Corruption, Global Security, and World Order. Robert I. Rotberg, ed. Washington DC: The Brookings Institution Press. 2009.

Lewis, Orion and Jessica Teets. "A China Model? Understanding the Evolution of a "Socialist Market Economy." Glasshouse Forum, 2009.

Teets, Jessica, Stanley Rosen, and Peter Hays Gries. "Political Change, Contestation and Pluralization in China Today." Chinese Politics: State, Society and the Market. Peter Gries and Stanley Rosen, eds. New York: RoutledgeCurzon. 2010.

Katherine Kaup Furman

Email: kate.kaup@furman.edu

Appointment:

James B. Duke Professor of Asian Studies and Political Science 2010-present

Education

University of Virginia, Ph.D. Government and Foreign Affairs, 1997

University of Virginia, M.A. Government and Foreign Affairs, 1990

Princeton University, A.B. Politics, 1989

Honors

Visiting Scholar, Yunnan Nationalities University 2012-13

James B. Duke Chair of Asian Studies and Political Science, lifetime appointment awarded 2010

Public Intellectuals Fellow: National Committee on United States-China Relations, 2008-2011

Senior Adviser for Minority Nationality Affairs, Congressional-Executive Commission on China, 2005

Gordon White Award: China Quarterly, 2002

Publications

Understanding Contemporary Asia Pacific (editor and contributor) (Boulder: Lynne Rienner Publishers, 2007). Also published in Korean

Creating the Zhuang: Ethnic Politics in China (Boulder: Lynne Rienner Publishers, 2000);

建构壮族：中国的少数民族政策和他的影响 [translation by the Yunnan Zhuang Studies Association of Creating the Zhuang: Ethnic Politics in China, forthcoming];

"Tensions and Violence in China's Minority Regions," in China Beyond the Headlines, Volume 3 Lionel Jenson and Timothy Westin (eds.) (New York: Rowman and Littlefield, 2012);

"Field Research," in Doing Political Science Research, Liz Smith and Akan Malici (eds) (Routledge, 2012);

Human Rights in Xinjiang: Recent Developments (Washington: Congressional-Executive Commission on China), expert witness for Congressional Staff Roundtable on February 13, 2009;

"Chapter 1: Introduction" and "Chapter 4: Politics in the Asia Pacific" and "Chapter 10: Ethnicity," in Understanding the Contemporary Asia Pacific(editor and contributor) (Boulder: Lynne Rienner Publishers, 2007);

"Special Focus 2005: China's Minorities and Government Implementation of Regional Ethnic Autonomy Law," and "North Korean Refugees in China," (lead author) Congressional-Executive Commission on China 2005 Annual Report;

"Regionalism versus Ethniconationalism in the People's Republic of China" China Quarterly (December 2002);

Winner 2002 Gordon White Award); "China: Ethnic Conflict in the World's Largest Multinational State," in Joseph Rudolph (ed) Encyclopedia of Modern Ethnic Conflict (Westport: Greenwood Press, 2003).

EUNMI MUN
Amherst College
Email: emun@amherst.edu

EDUCATION

Harvard University • Ph.D., Sociology (2011)

Seoul National University • B.A. (Honors) (2002) and M.A. (2004), Sociology

APPOINTMENTS

2013- Assistant Professor of Sociology, Dept. of Anthropology and Sociology, Amherst College
2012-13 Robert E. Keiter 1957 Visiting Assistant Professor of Sociology, Dept. of Anthropology and Sociology, Amherst College (Mellon Foundation Postdoctoral Fellowship)
2011-12 Postdoctoral Fellow, Reischauer Institute of Japanese Studies, Harvard University

RESEARCH INTERESTS gender and organizations, law and organizations, work-family policies, labor market institutions, work and employment in East Asia

PUBLICATIONS

Mun, Eunmi. Forthcoming. "Negative Compliance as an Organizational Response to Legal Pressures: The Case of Japanese Equal Employment Opportunity Law." Social Forces.

Mun, Eunmi and Mary C. Brinton. Forthcoming. "Revisiting the Welfare State Paradox: A FirmLevel Analysis from Japan." Research in Social Stratification and Mobility.

Jung, Jiwook and Eunmi Mun. Forthcoming. "Bending but Not Breaking?: Foreign Investor Pressure and Dividend Payouts by Japanese Firms." Sociological Forum.

Brinton, Mary C. and Eunmi Mun. Forthcoming. "Between State and Family: Managers' Implementation and Evaluation of Parental Leave Policies in Japan." Socio-Economic Review.

Mun, Eunmi and Mary C. Brinton. 2015. "Workplace Matters: The Use of Parental Leave Policies in Japan." Work and Occupations 42(3):335-369. Eunmi Mun, Curriculum Vitae Mun, Eunmi.

2010. "Sex Typing of Jobs in Hiring: Evidence from Japan." Social Forces 88(5):1999-2026.

PAPERS UNDER REVIEW

Mun, Eunmi and Jiwook Jung, "Change above the Glass Ceiling: Foreign Share Ownership and Workplace Gender Diversity in Japan" (Revise and Resubmit at Administrative Science Quarterly)

Jung, Jiwook and Eunmi Mun. "Does Diffusion Make an Institutionally-Contested Practice Legitimate? Shareholder Responses to Downsizing in Japan 1973-2005" (Revise and Resubmit at Organization Studies)

AWARDS, GRANTS, AND FELLOWSHIPS

2013 PICT (Project in Innovative Curriculum and Teaching) Award, Amherst College

2011-12 Postdoctoral Fellow, Reischauer Institute of Japanese Studies, Harvard University

2011 Postdoctoral Fellowship, Program on US-Japan Relations at Weatherhead Center for International Affairs (Declined)

2010-11 Academy Graduate Fellow, Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies (Dissertation Completion Fellowship)

2010 Graduate Student Paper Award, Society for the Advancement of Socio-Economics

2010 Akiyama Award, Program on US-Japan Relations at Weatherhead Center for International Affairs

2010 Summer Research Grant, Reischauer Institute of Japanese Studies

2009-10 Graduate Student Associate, Weatherhead Center for International Affairs

2009-10 GSAS Merit/Term-time Research Fellowship, Harvard University

2008-09 Visiting Scholar, Institute of Social Science, University of Tokyo

2008 Research Grant, Weatherhead Center for International Affairs
2008-09 Supplementary Dissertation Grant, Reischauer Institute of Japanese Studies
2007-08 Graduate Student Associate, Weatherhead Center for International Affairs
2007 Ronald Burt Award for Outstanding Student Paper, ASA Economic Sociology Section
2007 Summer Language Grant, Reischauer Institute of Japanese Studies
2006 Summer Language Grant, Reischauer Institute of Japanese Studies
2006 Summer Research Grant, Harvard University
2005 Summer Research Grant, Harvard University
2004-08 Doctoral Fellowship, Korea Foundation for Advanced Studies (five-year fellowship)

Kerry Ratigan
Amherst College
Email: kratigan@amherst.edu

CURRENT POSITION

Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science, Amherst College, Sept. 2013 to present

EDUCATION

Ph.D. in Political Science, University of Wisconsin–Madison, 2013
Major Fields: Comparative Politics, Political Methodology Minor Field: Latin American Studies
Dissertation: Authoritarian Governance, Decentralization, and State Legitimacy: Health Reform in Rural China

M.A. in Political Science, University of Wisconsin–Madison, May 2008

M.Sc. in Comparative Politics, London School of Economics and Political Science, Merit, 2005

B.A. in Political Science and Spanish, Haverford College, Honors, May 2002

RESEARCH AND TEACHING INTERESTS

Chinese politics, social policy, state–society relations, politics of developing countries, democratization and political change, civil society and social movements, research design.

PEER-REVIEWED PUBLICATIONS AND PAPERS UNDER REVIEW

“Too Little, but Not Too Late? Health Reform in Rural China and the Limits of Experimentalism.” Journal of Asian Public Policy 8, no. 1 (March 2015): 69-87. Reprinted in Chinese National Health Care Reform: On the Mend?, edited by Alex Jingwei He and Qingyue Meng. Routledge, 2016.

“Riding the Tiger of Performance Legitimacy: Why Chinese Villagers Have Not Rebelled (Yet),” pp. 1-38, Tables: 2, Figures: 3. Under review.

BOOK REVIEWS

Book Review: Beatriz Carrillo and Jane Duckett, Eds., China's Changing Welfare Mix: Local Perspectives. Journal of Chinese Political Science 19, no. 3 (September 2014): 343–44.

SCHOLARSHIP IN PROGRESS

Book Manuscript: “China’s Postcode Lottery: How Local Governance Shapes Social Policy Provision,” In progress.

“Disaggregating the Developing Welfare State: Provincial Social Policy Regimes in China,” pp. 1-35, Tables: 3, Figures: 4. In progress.

“Unlikely Bedfellows? Explaining Villagers’ Trust in Healthcare Workers in Rural China,” pp. 1-22, Tables: 2. In progress.

SELECTED GRANTS AND FELLOWSHIPS

Chiang Ching-Kuo Foundation Scholar Grant, 2016–2017

Chiang Ching-Kuo Foundation Dissertation Completion Fellowship, 2012–2013

American Political Science Association Travel Grant, 2012 (declined)

Overseas Young Chinese Forum, Gregory C. and Paula K. Chow Teaching Fellowship, 2012

University of Wisconsin–Madison, Department of Political Science, Summer Initiative Grant, 2011, 2012

University of Wisconsin–Madison, Vilas Travel Grant, 2010, 2011

National Science Foundation, Doctoral Dissertation Research Improvement Grant, 2010

RECENT PRESENTATIONS OF RESEARCH

“Contentious Acquisitions: How Chinese Mining Firms Negotiate Local Institutions and Communities in Latin America,” Latin American Studies Association, San Juan, Puerto Rico, May 2015; New England Political Science Association, Newport, Rhode Island, April 2016.

“Unlikely Bedfellows? Explaining Villagers’ Trust in Healthcare Workers in Rural China,” American Association for Chinese Studies, University of St. Thomas, Houston, October 2015.

“Satisficing Rural Expectations? Healthcare Reform and State Legitimacy in Rural China,” Association for Asian Studies Annual Conference, Philadelphia, March 2014; Amherst College Faculty Colloquium, February 2015.

“Bringing the (Subnational) State Back In: Provincial Variation in Welfare Regimes in China.” International Political Science Association World Congress, Montreal, July 2014; Midwest Political Science Association Annual Conference, Chicago, April 2013; American Political Science Association Annual Meeting, New Orleans, August 2012.

“Bringing China to the Non-Response Table: Individual Determinants of Survey Non-Response among Chinese Villagers,” with Leah Larson-Rabin, Midwest Political Science Association Annual Meeting, Chicago, April 2013.

RECENT TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Amherst College

Social Policy in China, 400-level, Spring 2015, Fall 2015

China in the International System, 200-level, Spring 2014, Spring 2016

Local Politics in a Globalized World, 200-level, Spring 2014

Power and Politics in Contemporary China, 200-level, Fall 2013, Spring 2015, Fall 2015, Spring 2016

Collective Action and the Politics of Resistance, 400-level, Fall 2013

Nankai University, Tianjin, China

Chinese Social Policy in Comparative Perspective, May – June 2012

Short course taught mainly in Chinese with support from the Overseas Young Chinese Foundation.

LANGUAGES

Mandarin Chinese: Advanced proficiency

Spanish: Advanced proficiency

French: Advanced proficiency

Portuguese: Intermediate reading knowledge

Seung-Youn Oh

Bryn Mawr College

Email: soh03@brynmawr.edu

Website: <http://syoh.blogs.brynmawr.edu/>

EMPLOYMENT

Bryn Mawr College, Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, USA

Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science, July 2013-Present

OTHER CURRENT POSITIONS

University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, USA

Affiliated Faculty, Center for the Study of Contemporary China, 2013-Present

East-West Center, University of Hawaii at Manoa, Hawaii, USA

POSCO Visiting Fellow, 2016-2017

PREVIOUS POSITIONS

East Asia Institute, Seoul, Korea

Research Fellow on Peace, Governance, and Development in East Asia, 2014-2015

École Supérieure Des Sciences Commerciales D'angers, Shanghai, China

Adjunct Professor, Spring 2009-2013

University of Pennsylvania

Post-Doctoral Fellow, Center for the Study of Contemporary China, 2012-2013

Chinese Academy of Social Science, Beijing, China

Visiting Scholar, Institute of World Economics and Politics, 2009-2010

EDUCATION

University of California, Berkeley Ph.D. in Political Science, 2012

University of California, Berkeley M.A. in Political Science, 2005

Yonsei University (Seoul, Korea) B.A. in Political Science, 2003

PUBLICATIONS

“Gone with the Wind: How China Outsmarts the WTO Rulings in the Wind Industry,” Asian Survey 55:6 (November/ December 2015).

“Shifting Gears: Industrial Policy and Automotive Industry after the 2008 Financial Crisis,” Business and Politics 16: 4 (December 2014), pp. 641–665.

“Fragmented Liberalization in the Chinese Automotive Industry: The Political Logic behind Beijing Hyundai’s Success in the Chinese Market,” The China Quarterly 216 (2013), pp. 920-945.

(With Kenji Kushida) “The Political Economies of Broadband Development in Korea and Japan,” Asian Survey 47:3 (May/June 2007), pp. 481-504.